That is one reason why The Times Information Bureau, which Mr. Haskin directs, gives so satisfactory service.

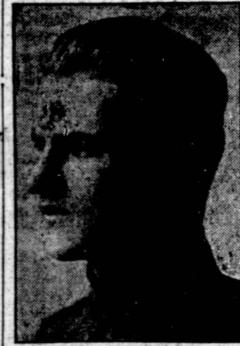

Another is that Washington provides so extraordinary a number of specially informed people on all subjects. The national lawmakers are here, the national executives, Government scientists, and scientists in institutions privately endowed are at work on all subjects under the sun.

PALMER WILL PROSECUTE IF PRICE OF BEET SUGAR CLIMBS

Attorney General Palmer today threatened prosecutions against beet sugar refiners who ask higher prices than those set by the Sugar Equalization Board.

The wholesale price fixed by the board. Palmer's announcement revealed, is "10 cents cash less 2 per cent seaboard basis."

Warning Telegraphed.

Palmer's warning, which was telegraphed to beet sugar refiners broughout the country, showed that the sugar equalization board and the Department of Justice have been co-operating to get the beet sugar sup-ply on the market at a fair price in Palmer, in his telegrams to refiners, quoted a telegram which the equalization board also has sent to refiners. This message revealed that the beet sugar factories were failing to sell their product as produced because of uncertainty about prices.

Text of Telegram. Palmers telegrams follows:

LAW TO CHECK RENT GOUGING

Technicalities are holding up the anti-profiteering amendments to the food control act passed by Congress at request of Attorney General Palmer, so he could prosecute food speculators. The bill contains the provisions against rent profiteering in the District. Following announcement that Congress had passed this legislation, it was understood the amendments had gone to the White House to await the President's signature.

But it was learned today that, although the legislation was finally agreed to on October 11, it has not yet been sent to the President because the enrolling elerk who prints the bill on parchment found that the word "an" should have been "on" in one section, and this made it necessary to pass a resolution through both houses authorising the correction.

Another error was in a section which mentioned "the treasury of the District of Columbia." There is no such establishment, and this had to be corrected to the Treasury of the United States.

The bill will be laid before the caker of the House for signs ture today, then will be sent to the Senate for the signature of the Vice President, and probably will reach the White House late this afternoon.

Consider Merger Inevitable. The advance in the cost to the public per ride is by no means a solution cerned; and a merger of the two lines is considered inevitable by many local bankers.

"The valuation set by either com pany of the Public Utilities Commission," declared Mr. Harper, does not seriously affect the problem. A basis upon which an equitable exchange of stock can be made is the only probem holding up the merger." Leaders of the Capital Traction Company have expressed a willingness, it was learned, to merge on a basis of entering the stock of that company into a new company that would be formed at par.

WIFE OR MY COUNTRY? NO

Non-resistance even to the extent of permitting his wife to be assaulted by an invader of his home was the doctrine advocated by Jacob Margolis, of Pittsburgh, counsel for the Industrial Workers of the World when he appeared today before the Senate Committee investigating the steel strike.

Margolis said he was so opposed to force or resistance of any kind that he would allow an enemy army to land unmolested in this country and even permit it to seize the Government.

Margolis said he was born in Pittsburgh. His parents were Russian-Polish Jews. He attended the public and high schools, studied at the Washington and Jefferson college and the Pittsburgh Law School. He was admitted to the Pennsylvania bar in March, 1910. He practiced in the supreme, superior and all other courts except the Federal. He had not been admitted to practice in the Federal court because he had been advised he strike. Baker's reply concluded: would probably be denied admittance because of his stand on the

Today is the beginning of the last week of daylight saving. Next Sunday the law becomes ineffective. The hands of the clock will be set back one hour on Sunday. The farmers will rejoice for they were responsible for killing the daylight saving law, and conducted a strenuous fight against it in Congress. Senator Calder of New York, "father" of the daylight saving law, still has hopes that the sentiment of the nation will again force the passage of a daylight savings law. He has urged that no action be taken by the States or municipalities. He hopes, however, that employers and em-

U. S. Has Too Much at Stake DELEGATESNO To Allow Conference to Fail

President Wilson will not permit the National Industrial Conference to break up in a fight. This was learned on high authority at the White House today.

If any delegates quit the conference, the President will name substitutes or cause them to be named, it was made clear. Even should an entire group walk out, the Administration would make an effort to have it replaced.

The Industrial Conference is here to "see this thing through," according to the attitude taken at the Executive mansion. So much is at stake that the Government cannot afford to let the conference go to pieces.
